New Sales Partnership Forms With Byron Carson and Shat-R-Shield

Salisbury, N.C. – February, 2006 – Shat-R-Shield, the world’s leading and largest manufacturer of plastic-coated safety lamps, announced the appointment of the Byron Carson Company as new sales representatives. The region served by Byron Carson includes Arkansas, Western Tennessee and Northern Mississippi.

With sales offices in Little Rock and Rogers, AR; Jackson, MS; and the main office in Memphis, TN., Byron Carson currently represents an impressive array of internationally known and respected brands in the electrical and electronic industries.

The Byron Carson team consists of thirteen employees. Officers of the company include Pete Futris, Bob Garibaldi and Jack Harrell.

“Since 1959, Byron Carson has demonstrated continuous growth in product knowledge and ability to effectively serve the business and industry of their region”, said Marty Pint, Shat-R-Shield vice president of sales and marketing. “We look forward to our new partnership.”

About Shat-R-Shield

Shat-R-Shield, the original manufacturer of plastic-coated, shatterproof lamps, has been ensuring lighting safety since 1978, when they introduced the first protective fluorescent lamp. Currently millions of Shat-R-Shield lamps are performing for businesses and industries seeking the ultimate, cost-efficient worksite protection. The company is located in Salisbury, NC.
